'Choose the right institution to pursue the right career'

Staff Correspondent

K. Aishwarya, Ranjita, Rashmi and Shameem at The Hindu EducationPlus career counselling session at Bellary on Sunday.

Chetan Singh Rathore, Superintendent of Police, has told students to stress on choosing the right institution to pursue the right career. He advised parents to guide their children to pursue a career of their choice instead of insisting them to choose a particular stream.

Dr. Rathore was here on Sunday to address The Hindu EducationPlus career counselling programme organised at Sharana Bhavan auditorium of the Basavarajeshwari Public School and College. He said there were job opportunities for agriculture science graduates in private companies and government departments.

Kala Balasubramanian, counselling psychologist, Inner Dawn, Bangalore, spoke about the career options available in fields other than medicine and engineering. Arvind Patel, surgeon, explained about the career options in medicine. Prithviraj, deputy director, Bellary Institute of Technology and Management, explained about the courses available in engineering.

C.P. Shekar Gouda, nodal officer, Karnataka Examinations Authority, spoke about the online counselling system. He also clarified doubts on income certificate, and amendment to Article 371.

The State Bank of India was the title sponsor while Dr. T. Thimmaiah Institute of Technology KGF; Nitte Meenakshi Institute of Technology, Bangalore; Rajarajeswari Group of Institutions, Bangalore; and Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences, Karnataka, are the associate gold sponsors. Padmashree Group of Institutions, Bangalore; Sambhram Institutions, Bangalore; and Bearys Institute of Technology, Mangalore, are the associate silver sponsors.
